
my baby esophageal atresia and kaylapearson.com

Posted by kayla - 2008/10/10 23:02

O so where do I start,my name is kayla and i ahve a 10 month old baby boy who was born with esophageal atresia and alot of other complications as well. I have been working on my web site kaylapearson.com really hard lately try in to get it tip top. I really hope it takes off and i get the traffic that I need to have it up in the top on google. This site means alot ot me because it is dedicated to my son my family and anyone who can relate to anything on my site! I want to thank anyone who visits or has visited my site, it truly means alot to me and it would and will one day mean alot to lucian. I put my heart soul and tears into that site. Thanks to all.

=====

Re:my baby esophageal atresia and kaylapearson.com

Posted by NurseKeith - 2008/10/11 00:18

Kayla,

We hope that many people will be brought to your site, and we send you our best wishes for you and your family, and especially for your son.

I look forward to exploring your website and getting to know more about the situation and the condition itself.

Thanks for sharing with us, and welcome to Nurse LinkUp.

Keith

=====

Re:my baby esophageal atresia and kaylapearson.com

Posted by SunnyRN - 2008/10/14 21:12

I sure hope that you have all the help you need. I will go look at your site soon!

=====

Re:my baby esophageal atresia and kaylapearson.com

Posted by kayla - 2008/10/15 21:18

Thank you so much, we are having a problem now they thought he was refluxing and thats why his little esophagus wouldn stay open so he had the fundoplication done and had a upper g i yester day and no sign of reflux so it is something else and i think they are dumbfounded with it, but i hope not our surgeon wont be back until tomorrow so we will talk with him on friday and try and figure something out. thanks so much fro all of your support it means so much! all the best kayla-

=====

Re:my baby esophageal atresia and kaylapearson.com

Posted by NurseKeith - 2008/10/15 21:52

Please keep us posted on his progress. We are all very interested and concerned and want to support you!

=====

Re:my baby esophageal atresia and kaylapearson.com

Posted by kayla - 2008/10/15 22:00

So today we went for an upper g i because he had a thal nissen fundoplication this past july to keep him from refluxing and so this whole time they have been dilating his esophagus, they thought the reason why it was stricture in back down was because he was still refluxing even after the nisen so we had a upper g i done today, at 1:30 and i was just stunned in disbelief. they said no sign of reflux at all everything was great his stomach was emptyin properly and everything. So no were left on why is he stricture in backdown why cant we keep his esophagus open , and it is only where they made the connection of the two ends. If we can just get past that he can learn to eat by mouth finally. thanks for all of the support.

=====

Re:my baby esophageal atresia and kaylapearson.com

Posted by kayla - 2008/10/15 22:03

Im trying to figure out if there are any other syndromes or things that would make it stricture down if any one has any ideas please let me know thanks so much.

=====

Re:my baby esophageal atresia and kaylapearson.com

Posted by NurseKeith - 2008/10/15 22:06

Wow, what a ride you have had. You must be a very strong person. All my support and compassion to you and your family.

=====

Re:my baby esophageal atresia and kaylapearson.com

Posted by NurseKeith - 2008/10/15 22:07

That is completely out of my ken but I will give it some thought.

=====

Re:my baby esophageal atresia and kaylapearson.com

Posted by Christina1973 - 2008/10/26 21:08

I am keeping you and your family in my thoughts and prayers! I hope a solution is found soon.

Warm regards...

=====

Re:my baby esophageal atresia and kaylapearson.com

Posted by kayla - 2008/10/27 10:26

thank you so much it is so greatly appreciated. I have so much going on and so many bad things i need all the prayer i can get

=====